CORE ELMS is an Experiential Learning Management System supporting the needs and processes of externship departments, corporate partners, and students in the field.

"Our experiential program was at a crossroads and one of our major goals was to find ways to work more efficiently. CORE helped us do that. Although we're only into our first year using the program, we already use functions that save time and we anticipate saving much more as we learn more about it. The training process was actually a lot less stressful than we thought and the conversion from our old program was made seamless by the CORE team."
